

3rd World Congress on Clinical Lipidology
10 – 12 February, 2017 | Brisbane, Australia

Biographical Sketch

Patrick M. Moriarty, MD
Professor, Department of Internal Medicine
Director, Division of Clinical Pharmacology and Atherosclerosis/ Lipid Apheresis Center
University of Kansas Medical Center
Kansas City, Kansas

Patrick M. Moriarty, MD is a Professor of Medicine at The University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City, Kansas. He is the Director of Clinical Pharmacology and the Atherosclerosis/ Lipid-Apheresis Center. He earned his Doctorate in Medicine and Surgery at the University of Rome School of Medicine and Surgery in Italy and completed his residency in Internal Medicine and training in Clinical Pharmacology at the University of Kansas Medical Center.

Dr. Moriarty is a fellow of the American College of Physicians, the American College of Cardiology, and the National Lipid Association. He is the past president of the International Society for Apheresis and serves as a manuscript reviewer for multiple scientific journals and is the associate editor for The Journal of Clinical Apheresis and Clinical Lipidology. He has authored or co-authored over 100 articles, abstracts and chapters in peer review journals.

His research activities include atherosclerosis, Lipid-Apheresis, vascular inflammation and hemo-rheology. He has participated in numerous clinical trials related to dyslipidemia, obesity, hypertension, and diabetes. His clinical activities involve the treatment and diagnosis of atherosclerosis and cardiovascular disease. The University of Kansas Lipid-Apheresis Center is one of the largest centers in North America for the treatment of Familial Hypercholesterolemia.